While no two clients and cases are the same, one thing remains constant – the contract disputes lawyers at Yankwitt LLP always listen to our clients. We strive to resolve their cases in the most cost-effective way that meets their goals, while tirelessly advocating on their behalf.

Our Approach to Resolving Contract Disputes

As aggressive business contract disputes attorneys who honed our skills at major New York City law firms and as former federal prosecutors, we know the significant financial and emotional costs of litigation. Yankwitt LLP staffs contract disputes leanly with not more than two attorneys through summary judgment and at trial. We focus on targeted and streamlined discovery practices, with an emphasis on dispositive motion practice, and a constant eye toward achieving the best possible settlement – when settlement is in the client's best interests.

About Our Business Litigation Attorneys

Given our wealth of contract litigation experience, we are optimally positioned to counsel our clients on when to take a case to verdict or when to settle before trial. In that regard, we frequently pursue alternative dispute resolution mechanisms and have obtained some of our great successes at court-sanctioned settlement conferences, mediations and binding arbitration. If a settlement is not possible, we are ready to take cases to trial, which we do each year in Westchester, New York City, and New Jersey.
