Partner Dina Hamerman Discuss Her Promotion to Executive Director in the Law.com “How I Made It” Column

Partner Dina Hamerman’s promotion to Executive Director was featured in the Law.com “How I Made It” column. The Q&A titled “How I Made Executive Director: Don’t Say No to Nonbillable Work” highlights Dina’s career, promotion, and influences, as well as advice she would give to associates whose goal is to ascend to firm leadership.

As the title of the article suggests, Dina shares that associates should not be constrained by the billable hour; there is tremendous value to one’s career by volunteering to do nonbillable work such as contributing to marketing initiatives, pitching new business or mentoring junior attorneys and staff members.

The article provides great insight and advice for attorneys wanting to advance to firm leadership and a window into Dina’s successful career.
