Russell Yankwitt Joins AMANDA ADR as a Neutral

Russell Yankwitt has joined the team at AMANDA ADR as a “Neutral” to provide the highest quality mediation and arbitration services to the organization’s clients. As the managing partner of Yankwitt LLP, Russell frequently uses mediation and arbitration to achieve favorable results for his litigation clients and looks forward to applying his skills in these disciplines to adjudicate and resolve ADR matters at AMANDA.

AMANDA ADR provides a suite of options to streamline disputes and settlements, focusing on matters involving employment law, family law, personal injury, business & commercial law, consumer fraud, and ADA litigation. Its deep bench of experienced industry mediators and arbitrators allow for creative and collaborative solutions that are not typically available in a court trial, and lead to considerably faster resolutions and award decisions. Unlike other ADR service providers, AMANDA ADR employs practicing attorneys, rather than retired lawyers and judges, as Neutrals, as they tend to be more current on developments in the various practice areas. Although Neutrals are not providing legal advice, their understanding of new legal developments could affect the posture of any settlement position.
